Notice of Intent to Designate a Rural Industrial Land Bank

Clark County hereby provides notice of its intent to designate an industrial land bank in one or more rural areas. The purpose of the industrial land bank is to allow "major industrial development" on large properties that are master planned to accommodate industrial and manufacturing businesses outside of urban growth areas. Clark County received an application to establish the industrial land bank on two properties that front SR-503 north of the Vancouver urban growth area: the Ackerland property, 223.72 acres west of 117th Avenue, and the Lagler property, 378.71 acres east of 117th Avenue. Both of these properties are currently designated for agiculture.

See http://www.clark.wa.gov/planning/landbank/ for additional information including available reports and analysis and the scheduling of public meetings and hearings.
