Meadow habitats are an ecologically important landscape type in Clark County, but they're not nearly as abundant as they once were. By reintroducing native prairie and meadow plant species into your landscape design, you can help provide habitat for pollinators and other native wildlife as well as support other ecological functions like stormwater management and plant biodiversity. Join Clark Conservation District for a presentation on the benefits of Meadowscaping in the home landscape and get inspiration and tips on how to create a beautiful and beneficial meadow naturescape on your property. Thursday, January 20 from 7 to 8pm via Zoom. The WSU Extension Clark County Master Gardener Program is presenting the talk in partnership with Clark County Green Neighbors Program.

Registration is required. After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing information about joining the meeting.

Fort Vancouver Libraries Virtual Programs

If you are stuck at home and missing your favorite library programs, good news virtual programs are available! Registration is required to attend, programs are available for adults and kids including story time, conversation circles, book groups and more! Sign up for lots of exciting events including American Sign Language or Spanish courses, credit score secrets and even Yoga at www.fvrl.org

NE Hazel Dell Neighborhood Size

The NE Hazel Dell Neighborhood comprises roughly a 41 X 47 square block area containing an estimated 10,000 households and growing. We are one of the larger Neighborhood Associations. In fact, there are conversations in the works to reduce the size of our neighborhood by redefining our boundaries going forward.

Recycling Reminder: All Things Plastic

All plastic items are not recyclable. Recycling is based on the need, the desire and the economic benefits of recycling. Waste Connections does not go by the recycle symbol and only collects and recycles limited plastic items based on if there is a second-hand market for such items. See www.wasteconnections.com for specific plastic recycling details.

Vancouver's Downtown Association: First Friday Art Walks

Join up on the first

Friday of each month to support local artists by viewing participating gallery spaces and art-centric businesses. More details and routes can be found at vdausa.org

Earth Facts

1- According to scientists, at one time Earth had two moons. Those two moons collided which may explain why the two sides of the present moon are so different from one another.

2- The World's longest mountain range called the Mid-Ocean Ridge is an underwater chain of volcanoes spanning some 40,389 miles and rises an average of 18,000 feet above the sea bottom.

3- Coral reefs are the largest living structures and support the most species per unit area of any of the planet's ecosystems.

4- The Mariana Trench is the deepest spot on Earth. The deepest point is 35,813 feet below sea level.

5- The Dead Sea is the lowest point on land located between Jordan, Israel and the West Bank. The surface of this super-salty lake is 1,388 feet below sea level.

6- Lakes can explode. In Cameroon and the border of Rwanda and the Democratic Republic of the Congo there are three deadly lakes: Nyos, Monoun, and Kivu. All three are crater lakes that sit above volcanic earth. Magma below the surface releases carbon-dioxide which can build up on the lake floor. An explosive eruption would release the carbon-dioxide, asphyxiating anyone in the vicinity.

7- We are losing fresh water due to climate change. Glaciers which hold fresh water are melting and retreating which contributes to rising sea levels.

8- Earth is electric. A single stroke of lightning can heat the air to around 54,000 degrees F. (30,000 C.) causing the air to expand rapidly. That ballooning air causes a shock wave and ultimately a thunder boom. About 6,000 lightning flashes occur around Earth every minute.

9- Our oceans cover some 70% of the Earth's surface, yet humans have only explored 5%, meaning 95% of the planet's vast seas have never been seen.

10- The Earth is filled with vast riches. Our seas are holding more than 20 million tons of gold. The metal is so diluted that a liter of seawater contains, on average 13 billionths of a gram of gold. Undissolved gold is also tucked away in rocks on the seafloor. If only we had an efficient way to extract it.
