Commission offers opportunities to advocate for older citizens

Vancouver, WA – Clark County is seeking applicants for three openings on its Commission on Aging. The commission implements the county's Aging Readiness Plan and provides leadership addressing the needs of people older than 50.

Volunteers serve three-year terms. Residents living anywhere in Clark County can apply. People with experience and expertise in advocating for seniors, launching new programs, public speaking and/or serving on boards are encouraged to apply.

The commission meets 3:30-6 p.m. the third Tuesday of each month. Committee meetings and other activities require an additional 10 hours per month.

The Aging Readiness Plan covers access to housing, transportation, a variety of lifestyles, support services and civic or social engagement. For more on the plan and commission's work, see www.clark.wa.gov/aging.

Applicants should submit a résumé and letter of interest to Jennifer Clark, Board of County Councilors, P.O. Box 5000, Vancouver, WA 98666-5000. Applications also may be sent by email to jennifer.clark@clark.wa.gov or fax to (360) 397-6058.

Submission deadline is 5 p.m. Friday, April 8, 2016.
