Hi Cathy,

It will be the city's Community Development team that manages the shoreline master program, any updates to it, and implementation of it. Any changes to the plan would be approved by the city's Council as well as the state Dept. of Ecology. The Dept. of Ecology is also involved on the implementation side of shoreline master programs too.

I'm not sure who the city's primary shoreline contact is, but if you contact Sam Crummett, the Community Development Director, he should be able to direct you to the best person and answer additional city-specific questions.

Hope this helps.

Regards,
Jenna

Your answer is what I assumed, but does does give me comfort. What agency approves and follows compliance with City of Battle Ground or any other incorporated area?

Hi Cathy,

Thank you for your note.

The county's Shoreline Master Program only applies to the unincorporated parts of the county. The City of Battle Ground has its own Shoreline Master Program that covers the shorelines of the state within its boundaries, such as Salmon Creek. Similarly, each of the other cities in Clark County have their own Shoreline Master Programs.

Hopefully that answers your question, but if not, please let me know.

Jenna

Hi, Jenna,

I see no change proposed for Salmon Creek near me. I am frighten, tho , that it appears jurisdiction and rules governing our stream seems to end where the City of Battle begins. What's with that? Rules for Streams of Statewide Significance I assumed were comprehensive.

What is the jurisdictional overlay of regulations.?

Thank you, Cathy Steiger
